Grazia Brunetta, Stefano Moroni

Cities and Private Planning David Emanuel Andersson,Stefano Moroni,2014-09-26 Through comprehensive case studies of privately planned cities and neighbourhood in Asia, Europe and North America, this book characterizes the theoretical basis and empirical manifestations of private urban planning. In this innovative volume, Anderss

Contractual Communities in the Self-Organising City

Grazia Brunetta,Stefano Moroni,2012-01-05 Both "land-use regulation" and "territorial collective services" have traditionally been accomplished in cities through coercive efforts of public administrations. Recently, land-use regulation and collective service provision regimes have emerged within "contractual communities:" territory-based organisations (usually, but not exclusively residential) such as homeowners' associations. This book examines the problems and opportunities of contractual communities, avoiding both the alarmism and unwarranted apologies found in much of the literature on contractual communities. The central notion is that cases in which coercive action by a public agency was deemed indispensable have been unjustly overstated, while the potential benefits of voluntary self-organising processes have been seriously understated. The authors propose a revised notion of the state role that allows ample leeway for contractual communities of all forms.

The Half-life of Policy Rationales Fred E. Foldvary,Daniel B. Klein,2003-05-03 Discusses the effects of technology advances on public policy and management of natural resources.

The Art of Community : Rural SC. ,2019 As part of its mission to help create a thriving arts and culture environment for South Carolina, the South Carolina Arts Commission launched an initiative, The Art of Community: Rural SC, in 2015. It creates a new framework to support new leadership, generate energy and motivate action in South Carolina' rural regions. This paper describes the concept and history of the initiative.

Renewable Energy Governance Evanthie Michalena, Jeremy Maxwell Hills, 2013-11-29 This book focuses on Renewable Energy (RE) governance - the institutions, plans, policies and stakeholders that are involved in RE implementation - and the complexities and challenges associated with this much discussed energy area. Whilst RE technologies have advanced and become cheaper, governance schemes rarely support those technologies in an efficient and cost-effective way. To illustrate the problem, global case-studies delicately demonstrate successes and failures of renewable energy governance. RE here is considered from a number of perspectives: as a regional geopolitical agent, as a tool to meet national RE targets and as a promoter of local development. The book considers daring insights on RE transitions, governmental policies as well as financial tools, such as Feed-in-Tariffs; along with their inefficiencies and costs. This comprehensive probing of RE concludes with a treatment of what we call the "Mega-What" question - who is benefitting the most from RE and how society can get the best deal? After reading this book, the reader will have been in contact with all aspects of RE governance and be closer to the pulse of RE mechanisms. The reader should also be able to contribute more critically to the dialogue about RE rather than just reinforce the well-worn adage that "RE is a good thing to happen".
